PLANT HEALTH POLICY

Horticultural Sales & Consultancy Ltd is a privately owned, trade supplier of hardy nursery stock to the landscape market, trade nurseries & consumer.

We are committed to maintaining the highest standards of professionalism, plant health and biosecurity.

Hortisales will do this by complying with all government regulations set out by DEFRA and any other related legislation. In addition, Hortisales will work with regulatory and advisory authorities and industry peers to respond to potential new hazards as they arise.

In order to safeguard this aspect of our own and our customers Environments, the commitment to excellent standards of plant biosecurity will include the following steps:

- Education, involvement and commitment in all areas of the business.
- Setting out operating procedures regarding plant health which take in to account legal obligations, risk assessment and documented work practice.
- A commitment to continual improvement within the business.
- In order to be in the vanguard of the nursery trade we will set our standards high, to exceed minimum legal plant health requirements and be ready to curtail the range we offer if this is seen prudent.
- We will set out objectives and procedures which will be reviewed annually for necessary changes, improvements and to identify any shortcomings.
- The culture of care for plant health issues will range across all aspects of the Hortisales business and be made known to suppliers, customers and specifiers.

Finally, our policy shall be made available to all interested parties.
